رمضان كريم

My Ramadan Countdown

عدّاد رمضان

Colour one lantern or moon each evening · a kind act and a new Arabic word every day

Free printable · A4 & US Letter · Ages 3–10 · Undated

Welcome, family!

أهلاً وسهلاً

Ramadan is a special month of fasting, prayer, reflection, kindness and togetherness, ending with the joyful celebration of Eid al-Fitr. This free countdown helps little ones feel the month go by, practise a small kind act each day, and learn a few festive Arabic words.

30-day lantern & moon chart
Colour one shape each evening. Write your start date — it works any year.

30 kind acts & Arabic words
A simple daily kindness plus a short word to say together.

How to use this countdown

- Print the countdown and the word list before Ramadan starts, and stick the chart on the fridge at child height.
- Each evening, colour that day's lantern or moon, do the kind act, and say the Arabic word together. A star on the word list can be coloured when you're done.
- Ramadan lasts 29 or 30 days, depending on the sighting of the new crescent moon. If the moon is seen on the evening of day 29, Eid is the next day, so day 30 may stay uncoloured, and that's fine! Communities may start and end on different days; follow your local mosque or community.
- Young children aren't expected to fast. The countdown, kind acts and new words are for every age.
- Print at 100% / "Actual size". This set comes in A4 and US Letter — use the file that matches your paper.

Our family's Ramadan goals

3. _____

Optional family moments · do them whenever it suits your family

- ☆ Read or listen to a short surah with family
- ☆ Pray together
- ☆ Make a dua for someone you love

This free countdown is for every family. Customs vary, so feel free to adapt it. Faith moments are optional extras. رمضان كريم وعيد مبارك!

My Ramadan Countdown

عدّاد رمضان

Colour one lantern or moon each evening. Ramadan has 29 or 30 days, so day 30 may stay plain, and that's OK!
